The Legislature convened today.

(Associated Press Cable to The Star.)
VLADIVOSTOK, November 19.—U. S. Secretary of War William H. Taft left here today for St. Petersburg in the Imperial train, under special escort.

CAUSE OF THE PANIC

(Associated Press Cable to The Star.)
SACRAMENTO, Cal., November 19.—The Governor attributes the financial stringency conditions to extravagance and to speculation in the East. Bills in accordance with the call of the Governor for a special session of the Legislature were introduced today, following the Governor's reading of the call.

WILSON RESIGNS

(Associated Press Cable to The Star.)
SACRAMENTO, Cal., November 19.—Railroad Commissioner Wilson has resigned and his resignation has been accepted.

Wilson was one of the budding supervisors of San Francisco; next to Gallagher he received the largest amount of bribe money. Attempts were made to force him to resign as railroad commissioner, but, brazenly, he held on to the office. Governor Gillette was asked to remove Wilson, but he found that the law did not authorize the step. The legislature only had the power to rid the state of the corrupting commissioner. Evidently steps were being taken to impeach Wilson, and, sooner than stand trial, he resigned.

BIG GOLD SHIPMENTS

(Associated Press Cable to The Star.)
NEW YORK, November 19.—Engagements for the importation of gold to relieve the financial situation amount to seventy-three millions of dollars.

CONGRESS FEAR ATTENDS.
(Associated Press Cable to The Star.)

(Associated Press Cable to The Star.)
TOKIO, November 19.—The army maneuvers have come to an end. The dispatch boat Yedo has been launched.

ST. PETERSBURG, November 19.—The Russian Government is awaiting proposals from the Brussels sugar congress before defining its attitude in regard to the international convention.

A NIGHT OF TERROR AT SEA

SOLD HIS FOR $40

JUDGE ROBINSON VERY QUICKLY
CLEARED OUT OF THE "MATURITY" COMPANY.

Judge W. J. Robinson, whose name appears as one of the incorporators in The Hawaiian Realty & Maturity Company stated this morning that his connection with the malodorous concern was brief—less than a year if his memory serves him correctly—and then some one, of whose identity he is not now certain came to him and offered him $40 for his holdings and he took the money gladly.

How he comes to be down on the original records signed and sworn to by himself as one of the officers of the concern, as having subscribed for 100, he cannot now remember. He is positive, however, that he never put any money in the concern and his connection with it came about by his being unable to collect his fee as attorney for drawing up the original articles of incorporation. For this work he was to receive $125, but only $50 or $75 of this was he able to get in cash, and was prevailed upon to take the balance in stock of the company.

"I was under the impression that this was the only stock I had directly in my name," said the Judge when his attention was called to the fact that $1,000 worth was credited to him, but he was positive that he had not paid any hard cash for any he received. He appears as trustee for another 100 shares, which he says he agreed to hold for old man Ahlo, he thinks, who for some reason did not want his name to appear.

Judge Robinson further stated that he was brought into the thing in the first place as attorney by P. H. Burnette, and that he had no reason to think that there was anything questionable about the plans of the company. At that time business was good here and 10 and 12 per cent was the rule for interest on perfectly sound security, which made the proposition of paying $200 for $150 at the end of 6 years, look very conservative and reasonable. He therefore had no scruples himself at the time and agreed to act as vice-president at the first meeting. This was the only meeting, so far as his recollection serves him, that he ever attended. However he heard from it almost from the first through Burnette who began coming to him with complaints about the way Kentwell was behaving, and finally announcing his intention of getting out if he could sell his stock.

When a proposition was made to pay him $40 for his holdings, Judge Robinson said that he was only too glad to let it go, and at once endorsed it over in blank, but he was inclined to think that it was for Frank Andrade.

"At the time that the company was organized," said Judge Robinson, "I was a practicing attorney and had been here only eight or nine months. I knew nothing about Kentwell or others in the concern, except in a slight way. I did not have anything to do with the amended charter, having gotten out before that time."

MACHINE ARRESTED

KERR'S AUTO HAD NO NUMBER AND WAS THEREFORE TAKEN TO JAIL.

The first enforcement of the ordinance requiring automobiles to carry numbers on the back of their machines was this afternoon. Sheriff Iauka has noticed a machine standing on the Waikiki side of Bethel street near the entrance of the McCandless Building for a long time, without any number on the back of it. A little while before two o'clock this afternoon Iauka sent Officer Weed up to take the machine into custody.

When Fred arrived he looked all over for the spark plug, as he did not care very much about pushing the machine to the police garage. Finally he found that the "foolish wagon" would not move without a plug, so Fred, with great haste and sweat pouring from his massive brow, started to take the machine down the street. By the time that he had reached the station house he was very nearly exhausted.

After a few minutes at the water trough Fred appeared in the Sheriff's "Holy of Holies" and informed him that the offender was safe in custody. Shortly afterwards Kerr, the owner of the machine, rushed down to Police station and informed the desk sergeant that some one had stolen his auto.

The sergeant smiled, made Kerr look very much puzzled, and then he told him that his machine had been arrested for violation of the County ordinance. Kerr went at once to get a set of numbers from one of the stores and after they had been put on he was allowed to go away with his "Auto Friend."

ATTORNEY VIVAS IS SENT TO JAIL

Word has just reached here of the sentencing of J. M. Vivas, a well-known Maui attorney, formerly of Honolulu, to jail for five days for contempt of court, by Judge McKay, at Wailuku last week.

According to the report Vivas wore out the patience of the Judge by repeatedly making a motion which the court had already over-ruled. The sentence was at once put into execution and although habeas corpus proceedings were instituted, Judge Kepoika, the only available judge from whom a writ could be secured, is sick, so that it would seem doubtful whether the full sentence could be avoided.

MIKE FISHER MARCH

A new march to be known as "The Baseball March" will be ready either Friday morning when the Coast team arrives or in time for the first game Saturday. Capt. Berger informed a representative of The Star this afternoon that he was going to dedicate a new march in honor of Mike Fisher and the players of his All Star team. The Captain says that he will do his best in this new march, and he hopes that it will make Hawaii famous all over the world.

CHARGED WITH HUSBAND-MURDER

Mrs. John J. Phillips, of Cleveland, Ohio, is to be tried for the murder of her husband, who was killed in his home and who said, before dying, that he had been shot by burglars. It has been shown that Phillips, who had been a millionaire, had speculated extensively and had, according to report, lost his wife's money as well as his own. Just what theory the police are working on to charge Mrs. Phillips with his death will be revealed at the trial.

BRINCKERHOFF PREPARES TO START

ASKS FOR LEPROSARIUM SITE ON MOLOKAI TO BE CLEARED AT ONCE.

Acting Governor Mott-Smith received a letter from Dr. Brinckerhoff, in charge of the Federal Government's work in the study of leprosy to be taken up on Molokai, asking that certain buildings owned by the Territory be removed within 30 days from the site which is to be occupied by the new leprosarium. The communication was turned over to the President of the Board of Health.

The fact that the ground is asked for within a month indicates that the work on the new institution is to proceed at once. The buildings in question are unimportant frame structures.

HOUSE WARMING AT OAHU COLLEGE

THE DOLE, RICE AND CASTLE
HALLS TO BE "WARMED" FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

The new dormitories at Oahu College—Dole, Rice and Castle Halls—will be "socially warmed" on Friday afternoon of this week from 3 to 5:30 o'clock, when all the patrons and friends of the school will be welcomed. All parts of the buildings will be open to inspection and teachers and pupils will act as hosts in showing their home of which they are so proud.

These buildings were planned by W. G. Traphagen, begun in July, 1906, completed in August, 1907, and first occupied in September, 1907. Lucas Bros. were the contractors.

BOOZE'S CALENDAR

Nearly every case on the calendar at Police court this morning was occasioned until some time ago, by Frank Peterson, who holds the record for convictions for drunkenness, was up this morning again on the old charge of being found drunk in a public place. He pleaded to Judge Andrade, calling all the people in Heaven to witness

WALLACH NOT HERE

STAYS ON HAWAII AND IT IS THOUGHT HE WILL REFUSE A TEST.

Is Wallach game?

The impression seems to be gaining ground that he is not, and that when the Board of Health finally adopts the resolutions of agreement which Prince Cupid carried to the Settlement and returned with last Thursday, by which the leader is to be given a free and uninterfered with chance to demonstrate his ability to do what men of medical science have never yet able to do, he will flunk.

The general idea is that Wallach really doesn't want to be given the chance he so long has howled for. That he would have been willing to rent on his own some time ago and reap the harvest from the advertising has secured by the Board of Health's ill advised opposition, but that he has gotten into such deep water by associating himself with the Home Rule party that now he can't get out of the political current which his agitation set in motion.

The fact that Wallach is not in town and will not be able to get here in time for the meeting of the Board of Health tomorrow, which he knew was to be held, and also that this case would be brought up, strengthens the suspicions just stated. He has been giving Hilo and other places on the Big Island a sample of his hot air for several weeks, and could have gotten back this morning on the Mauna Loa had he been anxious to be here. Instead he is said to have sent a wireless message to Charley Noley order him to make no conditions with the Board of Health in his name.

that he would never get drunk again, if he was only given a chance this time.

"Thirty days for you Frank as this is your eighteenth conviction," said the judge. "Be more careful when you get out."

A Hawaiian who had beaten his wife up in fine style in a drunken row was given thirty days to repent on his action.

Hope Abandoned Aboard Steamship Admiral Borreson

CAPTAIN WINNERS MADE HIS WIFE GOOD-BYE, TELLING HER THE END WAS NEAR, AND OFFICERS AND MEN BUCKED FARE-WELLS, DURING THE TERRIBLE NIGHT OF NOVEMBER FIRST—VESSEL IS BADLY DAMAGED.

A terrific tidal wave, supposed to have followed a submarine earthquake, at 12:45 a. m., Saturday, November 2, in longitude 47:35 north and latitude 177:12 west, completely damaged and other-wise greatly damaged the Norwegian steamship Admiral Borreson, Captain E. Winnes, bound with lumber from Seattle to Yaku, so that she was compelled to seek this port in distress, arriving early this morning.

EXTENSIVE REPAIRS NEEDED

Captain Winnes of the S. S. Admiral Borreson, damaged by a tidal wave, was shopping early this afternoon, finding it necessary to purchase wardrobes for himself and wife, so much of their garments did they lose during their terrible experience elsewhere related.

Advice from Bergen, Norway, where the Borreson is owned, are now being awaited to settle what is to be done with the vessel. She may be repaired here, although the work will be difficult with her warships bulwarks or bulkhead, forward and after bulwarks, cabin and saloon and stowage arrangements, rails, buldge repairs and probably interior reinforcement and perhaps work on shaft and engines.

and anchoring in the stream, 37 days out of the Sound.

Miraculous as it may appear, when all the thrilling incidents of the terrible voyage are noted, not a life was lost and the captain was the only member of the crew who in any way suffered injury and that was slight, his right thigh having been bruised under heavy furniture in the cabin when the mountain of water crashed over the scowling hulk and ripped clear the bulkhead forward and flooded the saloon.

"I am thankful that we are all here," said Captain Winnes to a Star man who boarded the wreck as she entered the harbor this morning; "we thought we were going to the bottom the night of the tidal wave and for days after that there was no certainty of our ever making port."

Just then a vision of drapery flashed by the starboard door of the splintered saloon in which the master and reporter were viewing the debris.

"Yes, my wife travels with me," said the captain in answer to the question, "She was not hurt. We are both glad she was aboard."
